Material Culture

Duskaran material culture is both functional and expressive. Clothing is multi-layered and protective, featuring patterns that recount lineage and survival stories. Wind instruments, crafted to resonate with the constant gales, are central to ceremonies and storytelling. Everyday tools and items are decorated with protective carvings, merging practicality with spirituality. Tapestries and ceremonial fans are intricately designed, recording family histories and significant achievements, serving as both artistic expressions and historical records.

Revision #5
Created 2025-11-28 14:42:41 UTC by zeruhur
Updated 2025-11-28 15:07:52 UTC by zeruhur