

The Wind Offering (Optional)

If you wish to create a formal ending, after the final fragment:

Together, write one last collaborative piece—not a fragment from either Windcaller, but an external observation. This might be:

- A future historian analyzing your correspondence
- The wind itself speaking
- A third party discovering your fragments centuries later
- A description of where each Windcaller is now

This offering stands outside the game, a shared reflection on what you created together.
